

I am an English Major

“For me, English has always been my fallback major, as I have always loved reading and writing. Since attending SPU, I have discovered that those with an English degree are desired in many careers. I also discovered that, not only is English my “fallback,” but that I truly love almost every aspect of the major (even writing papers!). I just stuck with something I know I’m good at, knowing that it will prepare me for versatility once I graduate.”

Valerie Moser

Office Assistant/Student Ambassador
Center for Career and Calling
Seattle Pacific University