Faculty Scholarship Celebration

The next time you are in the library, stop by the display case on the second floor outside the Administrative Office suite to see some recent examples of scholarly and creative work by SPU faculty. Our current display features work produced with the support of a SPU-sponsored grant—a Faculty Research Grant, Senior Faculty Grant, or Lilly SERVE Vocation Grant. Come and see Feldman's on-site sculpture, Kato's new textbook, Lau's colorful mathematical schemas, and Dearborn's monograph on George Macdonald, among other examples of the ways in which our faculty are affecting the world of ideas through their work.

Submit a Faculty Scholarship Profile

If you'd like the Center for Scholarship and Faculty Development and University Advancement to know about your scholarly projects and research, consider submitting a Faculty Scholarship Profile form. This profile allows our grant-writing and fundraising staff to be aware of your needs and better meet them. Using the information you provide in the Faculty Profile, we are able to send prospective grants your way as new opportunities are announced. Your Faculty Scholarship Profile should be renewed annually, or as your interests and grant needs change. The form can be downloaded as an interactive PDF from the Center's website at <http://www.spu.edu/depts/csfd/>. Submit completed forms to the Academic Grant Writer, Laura Lundahl, at lundahl@spu.edu.

RefWorks at the Library

SPU has recently purchased RefWorks, an online, web-based tool that allows you and your students to create a personal database to store and organize research information and citations. RefWorks also will create in-paper references in a plethora of different styles: APA, Chicago, MLA, and many more. Access RefWorks at <http://www.spu.edu/library/refworks>. The library is currently hosting drop-in informational sessions covering the basics of using RefWorks. Plan on attending one to check out the amazing possibilities this tool provides. Each session will last 30 minutes and take place in the Library Classroom, main floor of the library:

Tuesday, Oct. 2, 1 PM

Tuesday, Oct. 9, 1 PM

Thursday, Oct. 11, 9:30 AM

Thursday, Oct. 11, 1 PM

Friday, Oct. 12, 11 AM

Scholarly speaking,
