A Premier Christian University

At Seattle Pacific University, we believe that the finest education is informed by Christian faith in action.

We want our students to:

- become people who know and understand what's going on in the world;
- fully embrace the Christian story, becoming biblically and theologically educated;
- experience rigorous learning in a vibrant intellectual community;
- be part of the grace-filled community here, one that practices radical reconciliation; and
- become graduates of competence and character, equipped to change the world.

Why is that important to you? Because you will enter a world beyond Seattle Pacific that desperately needs what you will have to offer. We want your experience at SPU to challenge you to think, to grow, and to act so that you can dive into the world's complexities, needs, and opportunities.

We call that engaging the culture and changing the world. As a premier Christian university, we do this by graduating people of competence and character, by pursuing the kind of scholarship that brings light and understanding into the world, and by modeling a grace-filled community.

The Seattle Pacific community will provide you with both freedom and support as you grapple with difficult questions. Our goal is to help make you more effective in your career, your community, your church, and your family. You will be taught by world-class scholars, who will engage you in learning — about the world and the relevance of the Christian story both to the world and to your academic discipline. You will also participate with your professors and classmates in active learning and engagement in Seattle and around the world.

Our faculty and staff are followers of Christ. They share essentials of faith and are committed to an educational experience for you that includes an exploration of Christianity. While embracing Christianity is not a requirement for admission to Seattle Pacific University, every student is expected to be involved in some exploration of the Christian faith during their time at SPU. This exploration includes opportunities for worship, faculty-led small groups, forums on current issues, and urban and worldwide ministry. All full-time undergraduate students must meet Seattle Pacific's community chapel requirement.

Students are also asked to adhere to community standards of behavior. They are expected to refrain from academic cheating; sexual immorality; use of tobacco, alcohol or illegal drugs; and participation in acts of racial or sexual harassment. These standards are intended to show respect for SPU's Christian tradition and for other community members.

Please join Seattle Pacific in this worthwhile venture to engage the culture and change the world.
